

SR. KARA DAVIS

Sr. Kara Davis is a Daughter of Charity of St. Vincent DePaul in the Province of St. Louise (based out of St. Louis, MO). She grew up in a military family and has lived across the United States and in Japan.

Sr. Kara earned both a Bachelor's and Master's Degrees of Science in Communication Disorders and Sciences from Eastern Illinois University in Charleston, IL and was an active member of the Newman Catholic Center on campus. She studied theology through the Catholic Scholars Program and led retreats, pilgrimages, and Bible studies with her peers throughout her time at EIU. It was during this time of spiritual formation and service to others that she discerned becoming a Sister and explored Religious Life.

Sr. Kara lived at a Catholic Worker House while in graduate school and through the influences of Dorothy Day and the Vincentian charism, she felt a deep call to give herself to God for the service of the poor. After much discernment, she found the Daughters of Charity to be a good fit.

Sr. Kara currently serves in Chicago as a Speech-Language Pathologist and Disabilities Coordinator at Marillac St. Vincent Family Services. She works closely with children with special needs within the Early Childhood Programs, and assists families in accessing the resources necessary to support the continued growth and development of their children.
